

Management productivity improvement solutions – strategy focus

METL will diagnose the reason for bottlenecks in improving productivity at the senior management levels and provide solutions for them. This goes a long way in getting more done out of the existing resources through strategic reorganization, re-skilling, empowerment, exposure and redeployment.

METL's proprietary research with over 75 organizations and interviews with over 40 CEO's provides a deep insight and enriches the various solutions that METL designs for its clients.

The GISE© framework designed provides a whole system analysis and identifies areas where the organization can potentially focus upon for increasing management productivity. It also takes a comprehensive look at the way the organization is adding value across the four critical dimensions:

- Global value – is the organization of importance globally and what is it contributing
- Individual value – is the organization constantly adding value to the individuals who are directly or indirectly connected to the organization
- Social value – is the organization improving the life of society it operates in or impacts adversely
- Economic value – is the organization adding increasing economic value in the geographies it operates in

The GISE© report provides several insights to management on the ways it can increase management productivity.

About METL

METL is a management consulting organization dealing in niche area of management productivity improvement solutions. It works with empowered task forces and leadership team who want to build their organizations and drive change. It identifies areas where substantial leverage can be achieved and suggests definite ways to build those areas. The key areas of expertise are:

- Identifying your organization's core competence
- Increasing managerial productivity to global standards
- Substantially increasing speed of decision making in your organization

METL undertakes whole system analysis to arrive at the areas that require intervention. The areas range from core competence, organization structure, decision making, capability building for sustainable growth.

As a part of the senior management team you know the challenge your organization faces. You should call METL if you foresee any of the challenges listed below and want to fix them proactively.

- Have an implementation challenge in your organization
- Want to design a robust growth strategy for your organization
- Have a flat growth over the past few years and want to arrive at the root cause to be fixed
- Have a management team that is unable to decide on big/ right things
- Want to build a world class capabilities in your organization

Contact us

Please feel free to contact us at contactmetl@metl.in

Phone number: 0091 99660 27808

METL is based out of Hyderabad, India.